Safety Fair Saturday

The Yorba Linda Junior Women's Club is sponsoring a Safety Fair on October 11 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Yorba Linda Junior High School.

The Brea Police Department will have a motorcycle unit as well as an exhibit on crime prevention. Their Explorer Post, consisting of boys 14 to 18 years of age, will be represented.

The Sheriff's Department plans to have a black and white patrol car at the Safety Fair. They have a bomb disposal exhibition and a burglary prevention display. Their Explorer Post will be present.

The Fire Department will have a fire engine at the fair. They have a fire prevention display, and they will license bicycles. Anyone interested in a license should be sure to bring his bicycle.

Also participating is the Orange County Rescue Squad, based in Yorba Linda. For the children there will be Smokey the Bear from the Forestry service.

Women Against Rape will have whistles and signs for sale. The signs are large with fluorescent paint reading PLEASE CALL POLICE to be used in case of a person having car trouble.

Kick-Off Dance

It is reported that tickets are selling rapidly for the Fiesta Days Kick-Off Dance on Saturday, Oct. 25 at St. Martin's Church. The dance will be from 8:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tickets, at $4 per couple, may be reserved by calling Paula Waaramaa at 528-5339. Everyone is requested to bring and share their favorite hors d'oeuvres.

Parade Route

Placentia's 11th annual Heritage Festival Days parade, with Donald Duck leading the procession, will advance from the former site of Michaels Market on Palm Drive, west of Valencia Avenue starting at 11 a.m.

The parade route will proceed west on Palm Drive to Yorba Linda Boulevard; west on Yorba Linda to Kraemer Boulevard. From there south on Kraemer, using the east side of the divided street, then past the Reviewing Stand to Madison Avenue. The procession next will move west on Madison to Bradford Avenue, south on Bradford to Chapman Avenue with the dispersal point just to the east behind the Calvary Church in the open field.

Bicycle Safety Program

Approximately 150 Yorba Linda youngsters will participate in a bicycle safety program Friday, Oct. 10 designed to curb bicycle injuries and greater driver responsiveness.

Howard Link, district office manager for the Automobile Club of Southern California, said the Auto Club's "Bicycle Safety Lane" will be at Fairmont Elementary School 5241 Fairmont Blvd., beginning at 9 a.m.

Using a modified dynamometer, similar to those used in checking automobiles, the unique Bicycle Safety Lane tests such important bike safety features as wheel and frame alignment, spokes, bearings and brakes. Handlebars, grips, lights and reflectors are checked visually at the same time.

"Provided annually to more than 56,000 cyclists in Southern California, this free Auto Club service stimulates an awareness of safety cycling and alerts students and parents to needed repairs and/or desirable safety accessories," Linda added.

Ray Of Hope In Lengthy Dispute

Yorba Linda City Attorney Leonard Hampel Monday night held out the hope that the city's differences with the owners of Upper K Ranch may be nearing an end.

The vessel of Hampel's hope was a letter of intent which the city has prepared in conjunction with Upper K interests, most notably Gil Kraemer. Monday night the city council approved the letter on behalf of the city.

The letter, both Hampel and Mayor Carolyn Ewing stressed, does not constitute any sort of contract between the city and the ranch, nor is it in any way binding, they said.

"It is simply a good-faith statement on both sides," Hampel said. Ewing likened it to a handshake.

The letter sets forth the city's density and development requirements for the land in accord with the city's general plan, Hampel said, outlining an eight-stage scheme for development, including projected traffic-flow patterns.

"The letter is entirely consistent with Yorba Linda's general plan, its laws and ordinances," Hampel emphasized. "In no way does it represent any sort of concession."

Nevertheless, Hampel admitted, Yorba Linda may stand to profit from acceptance of the letter. Counsel for the Kraemer estate had told him, he said, that in view of the letter the owners may well drop two current lawsuits contesting pending annexation of Kraemer land.

If this were so, Hampel said, annexation of the long-fought-over Dominguez Ranch east of Upper K Ranch could proceed within days.

Still, Hampel reiterated, "it is not the purpose of this letter to relieve us of lawsuits—although that is a collateral effect."

Earlier, Ewing had reported a luncheon meeting between herself and Gil Kraemer some 10 days before during which Kraemer indicated fresh willingness to enter into a letter of agreement, she said. The letter had been in preparation since June, she noted.

The importance of the letter was pointed out by both Hampel and Ewing, who agreed that, as the mayor put it, "Upper K Ranch will not develop unless it annexes to the city of Yorba Linda."

Kraemer, the principal figure among 35 different owners of the 870-acre ranch, lying to the east of Yorba Linda, brought suit earlier this year to halt annexation of Dominguez Ranch.

Since the Dominguez Ranch is not contiguous with the city limits of Yorba Linda, and since a city may not annex non-contiguous land, a small strip of Upper K land along the southern boundary of the ranch was included in the Dominguez annexation.

Although Kraemer at first seemed indifferent to this action, he later brought suit contesting approval of the annexation by the county Local Agencies Formation Commission.

This suit has prevented completion of the annexation since summer.

In other action, the council adopted a resolution approving annexation of a five-and-a-half-acre of Amberdale Drive.

Annexation to the city had been necessary before the land could be annexed to the city water district for purposes of development.

Fiesta Days Celebrates City's 8th Birthday

In 1967, Yorba Linda was incorporated as a city and since 1968, Service League has sponsored Fiesta Days celebrating the city's birthday.

The first parade in 1968 had 37 entries and has grown to over 80 entries in last year's parade. This year's parade also celebrates our nation's bicentennial and carries the theme "...Sweet Land of Liberty".

It is expected to be one of the best parades, but will still retain the simple charm of the first parade. Entries are not judged to enable each group to delight in the other entries rather than be in competition.

The Mayor and City Councilmen will again lead the parade down Main Street and will return to City Hall during the Fiesta that follows the parade to meet with residents.

The old fashioned Fiesta following the parade enables local charitable organizations and churches to raise funds for their projects. There will be food booths, game booths, boutique items, white elephant sales, etc.

Last year, local groups raised well over $5,000 which led to Service League winning the Disneyland Award for community service.

A Fiesta Days kick-off dance is being held on Saturday, October 25th, sponsored by the St. Martin's Women's Guild, at St. Martin's Church, 8:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. with dance music being provided by the San Francisco Cable Car. Tickets are $4 per couple and can be obtained by calling Margie Haller at 528-0184.

Also, a Fiesta Days Pancake Breakfast will be held at the Women's Club building the morning of the parade. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12. Contact a club member or Margie Haller for tickets.

Gender Hinders Councilwomen

"People resent women in politics at the local level. It's not talked about but the feeling is there."

The speaker was offering that opinion from the viewpoint of one who should know. She was Mayor Carolyn Ewing of Yorba Linda. The occasion was a talk before the local Rotary Club last Friday.

Mayor Ewing cited the public's inability to recognize women holding office as different from their male counterparts. She noted that often a person will address the City Council with the opening word: "Gentlemen." Said Ewing: "They do no think gender."

The mayor explored the difference between serving at the local level rather than in the partisan politics at the state and national levels.

She asserted that there are "many hammers held over local government's head by the county, state and federal agencies that you have to be constantly on the watch for them."

Mayor Ewing admitted to some "distinct advantages" for women office holders. "It is easier to make appointments to lobby for something. We can use our femininity to open doors. We are a new and pleasant face."

The local mayor is one of 21 councilwoman in Orange County. She said many have college degrees, are married, have children, now have or have had careers or jobs which have "given us a variety of skills and general interest."

Along with councilmen, Mayor Ewing and the other female office holders have, she emphasized, the "common goal" of affecting change for the good of the community. "I want people to look on me as an individual who will help them," she concluded.

Clubhouse Dedication

The formal dedication of the Yorba Linda Women's Clubhouse to the City of Yorba Linda for a Community Center will be held on Saturday, October 11, at 1 p.m.

Invitations were extended to local dignitaries including Mayor Carolyn Ewing and the Mayors of Brea, Placentia, Fullerton and La Habra and Orange County Supervisor Ralph Diehrich.

Also invited to the event are the City Planning Commission, Library District, Yorba Linda School District, Placentia Unified School District, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, 4-H Clubs and all local organizations.

The guest list also includes City Council members, president of the Orange District and her first, second and third vice presidents and past presidents of the Woman's Club.

A program will be presented to include ribbon cutting, acceptance by Mayor Ewing, introduction of dignitaries, presentation of a bicentennial flag and California flags and history of the Woman's Club.

GETTING ACQUAINTED—with each other and the city and zoning ordinances with which they'll be working are Brian Johnson, foreground, and Robert Ferrell. Johnson is the city's new Administrative Assistant to Art Simonian. Ferrell is the new Code Enforcement Officer who will work out of the Planning Department under Phil Paxton.

Heritage Parade Rolls Saturday

Placentians and their friends will gather Saturday to celebrate the grand finale to Placentia Heritage Festival Days...for the 11th straight year.

It may be the only celebration of its kind which began 11 years ago with a real live elephant race on the site where Tuffree Junior High School now stands.

The only live animal in this year's celebration, however, will be a real live Donald Duck, who will be leading the 100 entry parade starting at 11 a.m.

Other items of public interest Saturday will be the annual Picnic-in-the-Park and a Teen Dance, which will close this year's festivities.

Attention is bound to linger on Disneyland's debonair duck, Donald, who as Grand Marshal will be leading Saturday's procession. Two Division Marshals, also well known in their field, of professional football, will be riding. Both members of the Suns, they are Dave Roller, Sun defensive tackle and Dave Williams, wide receiver.

B.B. Baron, KEZY disc jockey will man the microphone at the parade reviewing stand, which will sit on Kraemer Boulevard north of Madison Avenue.

Around 20 bands are expected to participate in the line of march, led off by the 15th Air Force Band from March Field. Entries include equestrian units, clowns and novelties, a number of antique and special automobiles, drill teams, floats, beauty queens, youth groups and a quantity of local and visiting dignitaries.

Most of Placentia's councilmen however, have reported out of the city trips and other conflicts with only Councilman Robert Langer expected to ride.

Parade Marshal Donald Duck, whose winsome ways belie his 41 years, will be making a rare appearance outside the magic gates of Disneyland.

Donald was born in 1934 as an outgrowth of Clarence "Ducky" Nash's rendition of "Mary Had a Little Lamb" in front of the late Walt Disney and dandy duck became a personality. Walt Disney's fine feathered friend now boasts movie fans in 76 countries and the international ability to quack in 21 different languages.

Started out in a bit part in a cartoon, Donald stole the show and has been at it ever since. The magnificent mad mallard receives fan mail from all over the world in about equal proportion to that of this cohort Mickey Mouse and some times tops him, Disneyland reports. Other events Saturday, October 11 will include a Teen Dance from 8 p.m. to midnight at the Backs Building, sponsored by the Teen Council.

A Custom Car and Cycle Show will be held at the Placentia Boys Club from noon to 11 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday at 132 East Crowther. Proceeds will be used to complete the facility's gymnasium.

A juried art show, the first sponsored by the Placentia Art Association will be a special event during the Picnic-in-the-Park at Kraemer Park. Three paintings will be purchased by the city of Placentia and other prizes will be given.

The Picnic-in-the-Park this year will feature continuous live entertainment for celebrants who come visit the game and food booths.

Entertainment will include appearances by Lloyd Grafton and the Merry Makers, the Village Singers, the Del Cerro Kazoo Band and a Square Dance exhibition.

A local western stunt group will be performing in the afternoon from 1 to 3 p.m.

Parade Band and Drill Team Awards will be presented from the Florence Robinson Showmobile from 1 to 1:30 p.m.

Food Booths at the Picnic-in-the-Park will include watermelon and corn-on-the-cob, Teen Council; Birch beer and ice cream, Elk's Club; Hot Dogs and Pepsi, Jaycees; cotton candy, Fair Housing Council; snow cones, Girl Scout Troop 1196; popcorn, Junior Round Table; coffee and cake, Federation of Republican Women; taquitos and 7 Up, Esperanza Band and Drill Team Boosters; hot chips and chili, Wagner Elementary School PTA; and a Sweet Booth, Senior Citizens Club.

Game Booths will include Shooting Gallery, Indian Guides; Teddy Bear Toss, Teen Council; Polka Darts, Mat Rats; Hoop la, Future Farmers of America; Cork Gun, El Dorado Track Boosters; 7-11 Game, Indian Maidens; Bumper Car, Young Life and Spin-O-Prize, Young Life.

Added activities are a Pumpkin Booth, Y's Men; Car Give Away, Kiwanis Club; Art Display, Art Association; Bicentennial Medallion Sales, Bicentennial Committee; Throw and Dunk Booth and Old Fashioned Games, Placentia Recreation Department; U.S. Flag sales, Republican Assembly and OCTD Bus Display, Orange County Transit District.

Copley News Service

America's craze for nostalgia seems even to have swept up some of the politicians. Sens. Hubert Humphrey and Jacob Javits have dusted the cobwebs off that quaint old-timer "National Economic Planning," and have trotted it out in the form of a bill, S 1975, "The Balanced Growth and Economic Planning Act of 1975."

You will have to look across the seas to view the wonders which National Economic Planning has created. You see, it's really another term for piecemeal socialism. The Soviet Union, in its early days, adopted it with one fell swoop, and has had a series of Five-Year Plans ever since.

They have produced a consumer standard of living so great that we would have to cut our own almost in half to match it. India has demonstrated the wonders of National Economic Planning, too, and even France and Britain have flirted with it, without success.

How does it work? It starts with the assumption that all segments of the economy need to exchange information about their goals and plans in order for everything to work in harmony without beneficial results for all.

Unfortunately, their assumption is wrong. Lack of advance information isn't the problem; public policy mismanagement is. Inflation, recession and shortages are caused by political decisions made by administrations, congresses and federal bureaus. Additional information won't cure that.

In fact, the Humphrey-Javits bill would make things a good deal worse. It would create a new superagency of the federal government; the Economic Planning Board. The board would come up with a series of national objectives and five-year-type plans.

Then they are supposed to employ something called "a consistent set of economic techniques" to get business, labor and the consumer to go along with their plans.

Under the co-chairmanship of Wassily Leontieff of Harvard, who has received more than $1 million since 1962 to study his pet project of National Economic Planning, the Initiative Committee for National Economic Planning tells us in its brochure how this Economic Planning Board should get everyone to make the decisions it wants. It says, "The means of influencing those decisions are already familiar to us."

"Some, such as tax incentives and disincentives, and traditional monetary and fiscal policies, influence individual actions indirectly. Others, such as selective credit controls, guidance of basic capital flows, limits to the use of air, water and land and mandatory resource allocation, affect individual actions directly." And there you have a recipe for complete socialism.

Despite its obvious lack of success elsewhere—not to mention its assault on human freedom—centralized economic planning is being touted by a number of well-known economists, including John Kenneth Galbraith, who is a board member of the initiative committee.

The planning advocates, with their obsession for controlling everything in sight, believe that they can do so wisely if only they can accurately predict future actions in the economy. But Galbraith, in his latest book, says: "All official predictions in economics are suspect." So much for consistency.

When it comes to job security, though, these economists are a resourceful bunch. Not only has Prof. Leontieff kept the flame of Socialist economics flickering for 15 years with grants of federal dollars, but also several hundred economists would be employed by the new federal agency if the Humphrey-Javits bill ever becomes law. Leontieff and several of his committee members even helped draft it.

Nostalgia is fine, but I think we would all be better off if the economists switched to swallowing goldfish.

Zoning Moratorium

Yorba Linda City Council Monday night made the latest move in the continuing dispute with the City of Placentia over zoning on the south side of Mariposa Avenue just south of Yorba Linda city limits.

Specifically, the council, at the suggestion of local resident Bob Frankeny, voted to send Placentia City Council a letter requesting a moratorium on zoning along Mariposa pending discussion and hoped-for resolution of differences.

Placentia's planning commission has approved zoning on the land which would allow construction of condominiums. Yorba Linda, whose adjacent land is more rural in character, has steadily opposed the action.

Another local resident, Bob Olsen, suggested a petition be circulated among neighboring property owners to express their feelings to Placentia. The Yorba Linda councilmen gave the proposal their unofficial blessing.

Letters To The Editor

Project A Flop

Letter to the Editor:

The County Sanitation District of Orange County (CSDOC) is planning a $275 million dollar waste treatment plant in Fountain Valley. The project is designed to meet federal requirements for secondary treatment prior to ocean discharge.

The Sanitation District is also proposing additional capacity (184 million gallons per day (MGD) existing; 225 MGD, proposed) which could, based on present per capita flows, provide sewage capacity for a population growth of 500,000 during a 10 year time frame.

The Environmental Coalition supports construction of facilities which upgrade the quality of treatment of wastewater. The marine environment can be improved while providing construction jobs to a sagging economy.

However, such a project should be consistent with other environmental and social goals. The facility should be energy efficient and sized to allow a reasonable growth and development but not induce unwarranted growth.

In addition, the Environmental Coalition would like to see the following criteria be included in the project: consideration of source pretreatment of industrial wastes, inclusion of consumer incentives for conservation (e.g., graduated fee schedules), reclamation and reuse.

It is unfortunate that in spending $27,000 of public monies to inform the public through a series of workshops that the Sanitation District failed.

We appreciate the concept of public agencies seeking public input early in the decision making process, however, there appeared to be a lack of willingness by sanitation officials to discuss or answer questions on specifics concerning the project and its potential impacts.

The simplistic presentation by the sanitation official lacked basic information about the proposed project and the decision making process.

A detailed fact sheet would have helped those citizens attempting to focus their concerns. The only redeeming aspect of the public workshops was the capable group discussion leaders provided by the Orange County League of Women Voters.

Police Beat

Saturday, October 4

A used 1973 Chevrolet sedan was reported stolen from the lot at B and B Chevrolet, 17071 E. Imperial Highway, Yorba Linda, sometime early Saturday morning.

Thursday, October 2

A prank turned serious for four Yorba Linda youngsters last Thursday night.

The four boys, two of them 16 years old, one 15, and one 12, had been driving around town, they allegedly admitted to police afterward, squirting targets of opportunity with water from a high-pressure fire extinguisher. Their car belonged to the mother of the driver, one of the 16-year-olds.

Shortly after 8:30 p.m., David S. Bowman, 37, of 4662 Torida Way, Yorba Linda, was walking along Santa Fe with a couple of friends when a dark blue Chevy with four young male occupants drove past. They got squirted, Bowman told police.

Bowman, who had reportedly just been released from a hospital after treatment for a spinal injury—and who was wearing a back brace—slipped and fell down.

The Chevy drove on. A little later, Bowman said, while driving on Yorba Linda Boulevard in his VW, he saw the same car squirt another vehicle. He took off in pursuit.

At some point thereafter the Chevy, heading east on Saga away

'Fleet's In'

If it appears that the "fleet has landed" in Yorba Linda on Friday with sailors roaming the streets and being seen all about town it will be local U.S. Navy veterans observing the Navy's 200th Birthday.

To mark the occasion all active, retired, reserve, dependent and civilian Navy employees are urged to join in this historic commemoration.

Two hundred years ago, on October 13, 1775 the Continental Congress authorized the outfitting of the Nation's first naval vessels. Wearing service dress blues on "Navy Uniform Day" is an outward sign of the event.

Wiggins At Rotary

Congressman Charles Wiggins (R-39th) will be the speaker at Friday's meeting of the Yorba Linda Rotary Club. Wiggins will address club members and guests on current and pending legislation.

from Prospect, ran into a parked car. The damage suffered by the vehicle was minor, however, compared to what Bowman allegedly did.

According to police investigators, Bowman, armed with a jack handle, proceeded to break the Chevrolet's windshield in two places, bust out the left rear window, and put a few dents in a fender. The boys claimed Bowman was attacking the car when the collision occurred; Bowman reportedly said it took place afterward.

During the altercation, the driver of the Chevy was apparently struck on the upper left arm by something hard causing a reddened swelling. Meanwhile, the two younger boys fled, fearing, they told police later, for their lives.

Then Brea police arrived, in response to a report of the accident.

The boys were arrested on suspicion of assault and battery and released to their parents.

Bowman was arrested and booked on charges of assault with a deadly weapon and malicious mischief. He was released without bail.

Tuesday, Sept. 30

Elsie H. Wisdom, 40, of 18392 Vista del Lago, Yorba Linda, was awakened by odd sounds about 2 a.m. Tuesday last week. Her husband investigated, turning on the kitchen light. He found nothing and went back to bed.

Next morning Mrs. Wisdom found the screen wire partly torn from the back door to the house. On the ground lay a screwdriver, with which the would-be burglar had apparently been removing the screen when he was scared off.

About $25 worth of damage had been done to the door.

Monday, Sept. 29

Sometime between Tuesday, Sept. 23, and Monday morning last week a Winchester rifle with cover was reportedly stolen from the home of Dale M. Hebard, 5681 Amberdale, Yorba Linda. Value: $140.

That weekend someone stole a $50 volleyball net from a court at Yorba Linda Junior High School. The discerning thief took the newest of the four nets hanging, one which had been installed only a few days earlier.

furthermore...

by Jim Arkison

While stationed in the LA area during World War II I was in Griffith Park one Saturday afternoon and came across a baseball game. I was surprised to see what looked to me, then in my early 20's, several older men playing.

It turned out that some of them were in their 40's and a couple in their 50's. I learned they were playing in what they called the Muni League and games were played every Saturday and Sunday afternoon.

I went there for a couple of weeks and when they noticed my interest invited me to play and told me to talk to the manager who would be there next week. He was out of town at the time.

The next Saturday I talked to the manager about my experience and he added me to the roster. I was a relief pitcher. He was impressed with my knuckle ball and urged me to work on it.

He was a little guy who talked funny. It took me awhile to learn that the "Casey" managing the team was Casey Stengel. He wasn't as well known then as he was to become. The season ended about six weeks later and that was the last contact I had with him or the team.

The next season my outfit had its own baseball team and played in a semi-pro league and I never ran across the Griffith Park team again. But, the death of Casey Stengel last week brought back a poignant personal memory.

I had another series of episodes with a baseball luminary. One night I went into a USO early to pick up some tickets for a movie. It was about 6:30 and the place was deserted but there was a man on the stage with a microphone and an engineer sitting near him with equipment.

The man with the mike beckoned to me frantically. He wanted to talk to me. Seems that he was doing a sports quiz show from the place that was sponsored by Dr. Pepper.

The upshot of it was that I used to go there every Saturday evening and appear two or three times on the show, using different identities each time. The trouble with the show was that it was on too early to catch the crowd.

However, I got free Dr. Pepper and free tickets to Hollywood Stars baseball games for being on the show. The man doing the show was Fred Haney who later broadcast the Stars' games, then managed the team and later was one of the original group that launched the California Angels.

When our outfit got our baseball team together we had no uniforms and the company commander wouldn't give us the money to buy them. So I contacted Haney who was with the Stars' by then and he gave me 18 old uniforms.

That was fine except that they were a garish purple color and no one wanted to wear them.

I convinced the team that it we wore them once and the commanding officer, who was a general, saw them he would give us the money for new ones. That is exactly what happened.

There are still a lot of baseball fans around who lament the demise of the old Hollywood Stars and Los Angeles Angels, in fact the breakup of the old Pacific Coast League with the advent of major league ball.

It was fun watching the game in the Stars' ball park out off La Brea Avenue where one of the big television network headquarters now stand. And in those war years the Angels in old Wrigley field had excellent teams.

Cathian Vignone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Vignone of Yorba Linda, has been named 1976 National Merit Semifinalist. Cathian, a senior at Marywood High School, Orange, plans to attend the University of California, Irvine, in the fall.

Over one million students from more than 17,000 high schools entered the 1976 Merit Program by taking the 1974 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

The semifinalists are the highest-scoring students in each state; the number named in each state is proportional to the state's percentage of the nation's graduating high school senior class.

The semifinalists represent the top half of one percent of the nation's most academically talented young people.
